

Bank of America Women's Tech Series

At Bank of America, innovation is at the heart of what we do. Our Global Technology team delivers a wide range of industry-leading capabilities and services that helps to improve our clients' financial lives. At the same time, we're also committed to paying it forward with our expertise by sharing our knowledge with female technologists – regardless of if you're just starting out in your career or already established in the industry!

The Women's Tech Series is dedicated to all females looking to gain practical skills and broaden their depth of knowledge in a variety of emerging technical topics, such as Cloud Computing, A.I., Big Data, UI development and more!

The first event in the series will cover Cloud Computing within the banking industry.
